

Commitment to Building Bridges

In accord with the principles of high fidelity wraparound and the values expressed by the Building Bridges Initiative, I am committed:

- To build upon the strengths of Wyoming, we will work collaboratively to identify resources to support the goals, values, and principles, including strategies to support the availability of flexible funds and financial resources for the least restrictive services.
- To balance and coordinate capacity, funding, and reinvestment between and across community based and out of home interventions. Ensuring that families throughout Wyoming have a comprehensive selection of services and supports in place and have the policies and protocols that maximize coordination and communication among them.
- To advance resources, policies, and practices across all child-serving systems that will realize these principles and values. To create a larger conversation with child serving policy makers about the vision and value of the range and continuum of services that includes youth and families and all service providers. To support family advocacy and voice by providing opportunities, forums, and amplification of that voice.
- To create incentives for ensuring that all services are outcome oriented, consider transition up front, engage youth and families as part of the solution, and address root causes in interventions and approaches. We will work to provide infographics, data and outcomes to decision-makers on the return on investment that includes the costs of financial and human capital.
